

I was in NY for most of the week. Everytime I walked past a newstand or street vendor it disturbed me to no end that they wore their own clothing. In particular , their own T-Shirts. Why ?

Because it made absolutely no sense to me that some entrepreneur had not done a deal that required the employees of these businesses to wear branded T Shirts.

Dexter was everywhere in NY promoting the premiere of the show. Except on these T Shirts. How much would a hot dog vendor charge to wear a Dexter T Shirt ? A T Shirt promoting any product or brand ?

Would some smart person PLEASE find out if there are any ownership groups of street vendors and newstands and work out a deal with them ?

Unless there is some law I dont know about, there must be a shot for someone to make some good money in major cities. Please do it so I feel better.
